A fine and rare Yohji Yamamoto bustle coat, Autumn-Winter, 1995-6, labelled and size M, of black wool, cut in traditional 1880s 'Visite' style, with straight button-front closure, the back cut in five curved layers to reveal an associated red tulle and synthetic organza bustle, chest approx 86cm, 34in

On the catwalk the coat was worn with both knee length and ankle length skirts of matching wool. This is a re-iteration by Yamamoto of his 1986 bustle-coat which was immortalised by Nick Knight for the Yohji Yamamoto catalogue, shot in silhouette, with explosion of red tulle petticoat at the back.
